Parishes to celebrate Day of the Dead

Staff report

November 1, 2008 9:05 AM

SANTA BARBARA Hospice of Santa Barbara is teaming with several Catholic churches to hold a multi-parish Day of the Dead/Dia de los Muertos commemoration at Our Lady of Sorrows, 21 E. Sola St., at 7 p.m. The event will feature a Mass, followed by a special reception featuring traditional food and drink. A traditional altar, called an "ofrenda," will be displayed for individuals and families to honor deceased loved ones. Participating parishes are Our Lady of Sorrows, Our Lady of Guadalupe, Holy Cross and St. Raphael's. The event will feature a performance by the Martinez Brothers.
